PROCARE AMBULANCE OF MARYLAND, INC. IS LICENSED TO PROVIDE AMBULANCE TRANSPORTATION SERVICES IN WASHINGTON, D.C.

BALTIMORE, MD – September 6, 2014 – Procure Ambulance of Maryland, Inc., a full-service commercial ambulance and wheelchair van transportation company, announced today that it has received its certification to operate ambulance transportation services within the District of Columbia from the Health Emergency Preparedness and Response Administration (HEPRA).

The multi-pronged process began with applying for a Certificate of Need (CON) through the Washington D.C. Department of Health (DOH). Procure pursued a CON after being awarded the Prince George's County Medical Assistance (PGMA) non-emergency ambulance transportation contract by Prince George's County, this contract includes the transport of patients to and from points within the District, requiring a District license. Procure's President, Debbie Ailiff, and Director of Business Development, Laura George, worked closely with the DOH and HEPRA to ensure that Procure meets or exceeds the requirements of those agencies.

"We learned through this process that our services are a welcome addition to the existing resources in the District. As the face of health care delivery models change, we are committed to creating successful alliances in the District that will bring about more efficient use of resources resulting in improved patient outcomes. We are enthusiastic about the future of healthcare and look forward to having a direct impact on the health of our Nation's capitol", says Debbie Ailiff.

Procure will be providing Basic Life Support, Advanced Life Support, and critical care medical transportation services within the District. Procure's license is due for renewal on August 30, 2015 and is subject to three annual inspections to ensure continued compliance with District regulations.
